“Doing Theology in the German Context”

18.01.2024 16.15 h - 17.45 h CET – online

„Doing Theology from Learners’ Perspectives: Basics and Examples for Religious Education (not only) in Germany”

This session explores a paradigm shift in theological inquiry that moves from teaching to learning. By shifting the traditional locus of theological authority, we will explore the transformative effects of considering learners’ perspectives in the process of ‚doing theology‘. Drawing on examples and basic principles, this session will illustrate how the inclusion of these perspectives enriches and redefines theological discourse. Join us on this intellectual journey that reimagines theology from the bottom up, through the eyes of those who seek to learn and explore.
