Registration for modules and courses

Dear students,

please note that you are not allowed to choose more than four elective modules (plus the research module) during your whole course of study. Every additional elective module will not be taken into account for your master's degree in International Economics and Public Policy. If you have already registered for a module, in which you do not want to take an exam, you have to de-register from that module.

Please also note, that you can replace one of your elective modules with another elective module only once during your whole course of study, if you have run out of chances to obtain the credits for that module or if you decide to cancel the module after you failed to pass a part-exam. If you want to make use of this one-time “joker”, you have to contact the Program Manager. This means that (apart from the “joker”) you are obliged to finish every module you have written an exam in (no matter, if you passed the exam or not).

Furthermore, we would like to point out that you only can achieve 12 credits per module, no matter how many part-exams you pass under a module. The grade of the module will be made up of all the courses you have taken.

For example:

Courses of module X	credits	part-exam grade
Course A	6	1,0
Course B	6	2,0
Course C	6	3,0
Course D	6	4,0

The module grade will be  $(1*6+2*6+3*6+4*6)/24=2,5$ . The grade 2,5 will then be weighted with 12 credits in the calculation of your overall grade.
