

Act 13,1

Table with 60 columns (adr. 1-60) and multiple rows of text. Each row contains Latin text fragments and their corresponding German glosses. The text is color-coded by row: yellow (1-5), orange (6-10), cyan (11-15), green (16-20), and grey (21-25). The table includes various forms of the text, such as 'erant autem in antiochia' and 'prophetas et doctores in quibus barnabas', along with their German equivalents like 'waren aber in Antiochia' and 'Propheten und Doctoren in denen Barnabas'.
